Did you drive? bike?
take public transit?
Or did you simply rely on walking?

We need to know.

Your household has been randomly selected to participate in this multi-government transportation survey. Between September and November, 25,000 households in the National Capital Region will be contacted by telephone.

Why you?

Providing your trip information to the Origin-Destination Survey informs planners of your community's transportation needs. Whether you are a pedestrian, a cyclist, a transit user or a driver, YOUR participation is essential to improving our region's roads, bridges, transit systems and pathways.

Who is conducting the survey?

The Origin-Destination Survey is a joint municipal, provincial and federal project.

We will phone
YOU soon to find out!

What you need to know ...

- We will ask where you and others in your household travelled to in the course of the previous day, when you went, and how you got there.
- The survey will only take about 10 minutes.
- The conversation will be STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL.
- For more information, visit O-Dsurvey.ca or phone 613-688-5050.

Thank You!
